MINOT-SLEEPER LIBRARY—REPORT OF TRUSTEES

The past year has brought no radical changes in the Minot-Sleeper Library. With Miss Mary A. Rogers as librarian in charge, the library has been open each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and evening, barring holidays.

In the spring a new lighting system was installed, supplanting the old wiring and lights. Over the entrance and in the hall are placed lanterns, and the reading room is now lighted with three 200-watt lights, and five 50-watt lights in the book stacks, each with a holophane shade. There are also two floor plugs and a new desk lamp, as well as four lights in the basement.

The librarian takes special interest in her work, extending every possible courtesy to patrons and especially to the school pupils who find the library of increasing value. Their use of books has more than doubled in the past few years. At the library are kept lists for reference for the school pupils, placed there by the teachers. There is one list for each of the four years in high school, and one for the 8th grade and one for the 7th, as well as the required American History list and a Modern European list.

Miss Rogers is zealous to increase the efficiency of the library. Her annual report shows the number of books loaned to be about a thousand more than last year; in fact, the advance in this line for several years has been practically one thousand a year. The total number of books loaned the past year was 19,122. Of these fiction numbered 11,709, juvenile fiction 4,011, and miscellaneous 3,472. The increase the past year was in the fiction and miscellaneous. Two hundred and twenty-eight books were added. Patrons of the reading room numbered 4,488. Collected for dues, fines, etc., $59.46; paid for express, postage, etc., $4.18, leaving a balance of $55.28.

Acquisitions in books have included the purchase of a very fine assortment of travel books, several books on music, including the Encyclopedia of Music and American Musicians; History of American Music; and Musical People in Retrospect, by Milo Benedict. Also a fine line of children's books, these being secured through a monthly club for juveniles, in addition to the first installment of books, one book a month being received. The trustees were grateful to Austin H. Roby for the gift of ten volumes of Winston's Encyclopedia, and another gift to the library was The Reference Shelf in 10 volumes, which are of special use in debating in high schools.

In the near future it is expected that a glass case for the specimens bequeathed to the library through the Mabel N. Bickford estate, will be installed; and it is hoped that a lavatory and toilet in the basement, as well as new stacks for the storage of books, may be added soon.

More and more appreciated are the privileges which the Bristol people are receiving from the Minnie Maria Day-Jackman fund. Through this fund the reading room tables are supplied with the most valued magazines obtainable, and also a new Encyclopedia Britannica and dictionary were secured last year, which have met a special need. The old volumes were given to the school. Besides the use of the magazines on the tables themselves, all except the current issue are loaned on the library cards as are the books. A few of the most valuable are bound and placed on the shelves. At the end of the year those which are no longer needed in the library are placed where they will be appreciated.

Magazines to be found on the tables include American, American Boy, American Girl, American Forests and Forestry, Child Life, Junior Home, Atlantic, Asia, Geographic, Woman's Home Companion, Harper's, Ladies' Home Journal, Literary Digest, Nature Magazine, Our Dumb Animals, Outlook, American Issue, St. Nicholas, Linn's Weekly Stamp News, Popular Mechanics, World's Work, Popular Science, Current History, Scientific American, The Pathfinder, Every Girl, American Home, Good Housekeeping, School Arts Magagine, Book Review Digest, Better Homes and Gardens, Embroideress, Scribner's, Audubon Society of N. H., D. A. R. Magazine, American Nature, Country Gentleman, Etude, Jacobs Bond Magazine, School Musical, Forum, Harpers' Bazaar, Needlecraft, American Forests, Current History, and others. A few periodicals are contributed by clubs and individuals.

The age limit of those entitled to take books is eight years, and the privileges extending to people residing in nearby towns have been enjoyed by many.

Citizens are urged to remember the library with gifts, either large or small, and with bequests where posssible.

For the past year Fred H. Ackerman and Miss Mary D. Musgrove have served as Executive Committee; E. Maude Ferguson, Maude M. Pollard, Mary D. Musgrove, Fred H. Ackerman, and Karl G. Cavis, Book Committee.

The trustees sincerely desire to make the library the greatest possible asset to the community.

Respectfully submitted

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of the Town of Bristol:

I submit, herewith, my ninth annual report as superintendent of schools.

In the table of statistics for the year 1930-31 I have added the figures representing the totals, averages, and aggregates for the previous year, 1929-30. I did that for the sake of comparison.

1931-32

During the spring of 1931, the room on the ground floor of the wooden building was arranged for a first grade room. The seventh grade pupils were moved from the second floor of the brick building to the room formerly occupied by the first grade. The seventh grade room was then used as a home room for the freshmen. In this way, we have solved, for the time being, the overcrowded condition of the main room of the high school.

One hundred and twenty-six pupils have registered in the high school. The entering class numbered forty-five, which is the largest in history of the school. This number of pupils necessitates the teaching of freshmen English and History in two divisions.

Two new teachers were added to the four already in service. Mr. Stanton Slack, of Franklin, N. H., a member of the class of 1931, University of New Hampshire, was engaged as sub-master and to take charge of the athletics. Due to the increased enrollment and the greater number of pupils taking typewriting, it was necessary to secure another teacher to help in this work and to take on other commercial subjects. Miss Mavis Hodgdon, of Rochester, N. H., and a graduate of the University of New Hampshire, was secured for this position.

In the early part of the year, I gave to the children in the elementary grades tests in reading. My purpose was to discover what children needed attention in order to increase their ability in silent reading.

As an aid to increase the ability of the pupils in the lower grades to read silently, work books to accompany the readers in these grades have been given each pupil. This method of teaching silent reading has not displaced the method used in previous years, but is to supplement it. Neither has it displaced oral reading in these grades. Silent reading as an aid to study cannot be neglected and the pupil's ability to advance from grade to grade depends largely upon this accomplishment. Instruction along this line cannot begin too early.

Careful supervisioin on the part of the teacher of this phase of teaching reading I'm sure will soon begin to show the desired results.

May I, at this time, again express my thanks for the help, encouragement and cooperation that you have given me as your superintendent.

EARLE P. FREESE,
Superintendent of Schools.

February 12, 1931.

A check-up of the pupils from nearby towns shows that there will probably be about fifteen pupils enter as freshmen. The freshman class will probably not be so large as the present one. There is every indication to believe that this class will number between thirty and thirty-five. Nineteen seniors will graduate, and if their places are taken by the number expected the enrollment of the high school will be increased to about one hundred thiry or one hundred thirty-five.
